Message from the GK Chairman

Dear Dreamers and Builders,

With a thankful heart, I honor all of you who have not stopped hoping for our country and caring for our people. 2009 has been a year of many blessings as well as challenges, among them moments of grace in our journey of hope that is within reach. While the big goal is to help end global poverty and build a better world, our immediate challenge is to prove that it can happen in the country where GK began.

Last year was the debut of Gawad Kalinga as a patriotic movement for change and a template for community development on a global stage. The book I authored, "Builder of Dreams," was launched at our first Global Summit in Boston, Massachusetts to share with the world the stories of our living heroes. It was at the Summit where we also launched GK 2024, our campaign to end poverty for five million Filipino families by building 50,000 GK villages - one in every Barangay in the country, including conflict-ridden territories in Mindanao and rebel infested areas in Samar and Bicol. With concrete proof in about 2,000 villages that it can be done, we are confident that the 2024 dream can happen in 14 years. We hope to achieve this through legislation with the introduction of the Kalinga Bills, crafted with the help of the UP School of Public Administration and Governance, in the new Congress in July 2010.

This is Kalinga Politics -the politics of caring, where no citizen is left behind.

We are not endorsing any political candidate in this year's presidential elections but we expect them to endorse our dream and engage our communities in their platform for change.

This year, we look forward to the end of the first phase of a 21-year development timeline which started in 2003 and will end in 2024. We called the first 7 years as the phase of Social Justice, getting land for the landless and building homes for the homeless. We have attained more than enough land needed to build the 700,000 homes we had targeted 7 years ago through the generosity of land donors and massive land banking by local government units (LGUs). This was never done before on a massive scale. GK showed a formula that gave material and spiritual benefit to both benefactor and recipient. We have inspired many to simplify lifestyles; to give up BMWs, luxury cruises and mansions in order to give homes to the homeless.

This is the Bayani Culture – the culture of heroism, where citizens go beyond self and family interest for the good of an entire nation.

We enter the new decade with Social Artistry, the exciting second phase of GK in the next 7 years, designing better quality of life through empowered citizenship in our intentional communities. To kick this off, we will showcase 300 villages nationwide that have integrated all the 7 programs of GK. The keen interest of the academe in the Philippines and abroad, particularly the United States and Singapore, has been triggered and a stream of queries and visits have been made to check out our communities as social laboratories for study and research to improve health, create wealth, resolve conflict, protect nature and enhance culture.

Patriotic Education is first on our list as we start this second chapter in our journey. Our key partners in the local academic field are starting to see their role as schools that graduate not just professionals but patriots. The same way they have opened their campuses to us, we also welcome them into our communities as researchers and volunteers that want to learn from the poor. This year we will introduce our campaign for Kalinga Scholars- the deserving poor receiving quality education while also serving the striving poor in GK villages. The first set of scholars is from St Mary's College; they will serve the GK villages in Bulacan or weekends and summers.

We have also been presented with a tremendous opportunity by Taguig City University (TCU) to make it the first "University for the Rising Filipino" with the LGU inviting Gawad Kalinga partners in the Board of Regents in an unprecedented move to attract private sector support for striving students from public high schools and poor communities.

University of Santo Tomas (UST) has also made GK a part of their quadri-centennial celebration. Their campaign "Simbahayan 400: Tomasino Para sa Simbahahan, Tahanan at Bayan" has integrated our global Kalinga Tomacincing drive to exceed 100,000 communities around the country through UST alumni who are now doctors, nurses, engineers, architects and educators. They will show the world that Tomasinos are nation-builders.

Another exciting initiative is the institutional agreement of GK Kalusugan with UCLA on community health, with Stanford also interested to come on board. The challenge is for us to create the local infrastructure of partnerships for effective implementation. Green Kalinga has partnered with Singapore schools to build GK eco-villages brokered by GK Hope Initiative (GKHI). They will be the centerpiece in the GK Global Summit in Singapore on June 25-27, 2010.

GK Bayanihan has shown the value of partnership with agricultural schools, government institutions and business corporations in raising 430 farms to date and targeting to end 2010 with a total of 1,000 farms. Their "Goodbye Gutom" campaign is designed to end hunger through productivity as a first step towards prosperity.

We will roll-out the GK Builder's Institute in 300 colleges and universities nationwide in the next school year, coordinating closely with the Commission for Higher Education (CHED) in enhancing the NSTP programs for community service.

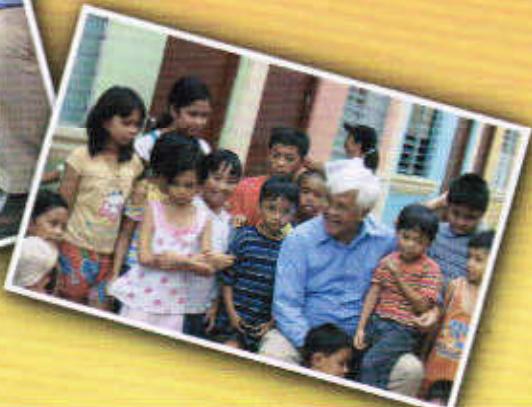

Top priority for Ateneo de Manila is the incubation of business ventures of their students with GK communities as partners under the School of Management (SOM) with assistance from McKinsey consultants. Together with La Salle and other business schools, the goal is to nurture enterprises that fly Filipino brands, harness local talents and promote indigenous raw materials that create higher value to the contribution of GK communities, particularly our farmers so they will not be forced to squat in big cities or join the rebels in the countryside.

This is Bayanihan Economics – the economics of sharing, where profit is shared with those in greatest need and those that have the untapped potential for productivity to create abundance for all.

The next 7 years will be the new springtime of Gawad Kalinga with the entry of a new GK Board from the academe and business. Together with the launching of GK1WORLD website for a massive global campaign, there will be intensified support for our valiant community builders who love our country and will not abandon the poor.

It takes many committed stakeholders to transform communities; it will take millions of patriots to build an entire nation. We will move forward with greater resolve towards the GK 2024 vision, in awe of a great God that desires for us a wonderful life in a peaceful nation with tree-lined colorful villages, farms with bountiful harvests and healthy children in schools that graduate striving patriots and struggling saints.

Let us claim the promise of a great nation and a kinder world that we can build together with love.

Message from the Executive Director

October 4, 2003 was an appointed time in the history of Gawad Kalinga and I would bravely say a special moment in the history of the Filipino. The gathering reminded me of the "spirit" that not so many long years ago gave birth to what the world now knows as People Power. It was a night like no other night. 80,000 individuals gathered to witness the launching of GK777: building 700,000 homes, 7,000 communities in 7 years. To many, it was too big a goal, too difficult to organize and too much to capture. Their conclusion: it's a good slogan, but it is an impossibility!

However, to a few, the sheer impossibility of it only proved that the whole mission could only be made possible with Faith in God, Love for Country and Faith in the Filipino! This was the fuel that drove thousands of volunteers for the past 7 years to build close to 2,000 GK Communities (in varying degrees of maturity) and mobilized resources that may reach in value close to 4 billion pesos in terms of land value, site development, community infrastructure, volunteer hours, direct monetary contributions from individuals, corporations, non-government and government institutions, religious and civic organization and most importantly, the equity coming from the poor as well. But at the heart of this extraordinary feat is the transforming experience of those involved whether rich or poor, the ordinary or the powerful, Filipinos or non-Filipinos abroad, young or old that made the GK Way special.

The collective GK experience made the 7 year journey a great adventure in building our nationhood; founded on "KALINGA" - a constant decision to give goodness for God and Country. Can you just imagine how powerful it could be - if we could only measure sacrifice, heroism and transformation?

Building the FIRST MILE(s)

The first mile of GK in its thousand mile journey is the first 7 years of the GK 777 declaration! It was a phase of small victories, painful defeats and personal sacrifices in the pursuit of discovering the template of community empowerment and transformation of what we presently call "The GK Way". It was never just about alleviating poverty for the "have-nots" or trying to ease the guilt of the "haves". It was always about the absolute goal of ending poverty in the Philippines with God and for country!

THE GK VOLUNTEERS. Our caretaker teams and our volunteers – they comprise the first building block of the "success" of Gawad Kalinga. To date, I would confidently approximate that close to 800,000 volunteers from "7 to 77 years old" have experienced "building" GK in the different communities and areas. This thrust of raising and organizing a global army to embody the GK Way of volunteerism is captured in our GK1MB (GK 1 Million Builders) campaign. GK1MB is headed by Mari Oquñena and a band of passionate and committed young army of patriots, building character and sharing the vision, values and culture of Gawad Kalinga to the next generation of Filipinos. The first mile of GK with volunteers was and will always be anchored on FAITH and the FILIPINO.

THE GK PARTNERS. The monumental task of raising free land for the poor and resources to build communities will always put a strain on any organization. Foundational to nationhood is the sense of "experiencing brotherhood, friendship and solidarity among strangers". These relationships are anchored on common love for God and country. Through these relationships, innovative and creative partnerships are forged which can lead to the unleashing of extraordinary resources that can accelerate our vision of ending poverty. A GK Partnership is a departure and a counter to the culture of patronage that has kept the poor "beholden" to the give. The first mile for GK with partners was and will always be anchored on FRIENDSHIPS.

THE GK KAPITBAHAYAN. It is our vehicle for sustainability and continuity of the GK model for community-based development. At present, there are close to 2,000 organized Kapitbahayans with an average of 80 families per Kapitbahayan grouping, we are approximately working with 160,000 families or affecting directly 800,000 individuals. There is a set of officers headed by a Kapitbahayan President that runs the day-to-day affairs of the community together with the GK Caretaker Teams. The Kapitbahayan meets at least once a week for values formation sessions. Each group varies in maturity ranging from groups taking on the role of the GK Caretaker to the initial stage of organizing. However, majority of the Kapitbahayans are already acting as "community partners" helping implement the different programs and advocacies of Gawad Kalinga. The first mile of the GK Kapitbahayan is and will always be centered on FAMILY, building the GK community as the home for each resident.

Miles and Mission

FIVE EVENTS that shaped GK Year 2009

April 13 to 19

Christians and Muslims gathered in Panglima Estino, Sulu despite the news of violence and kidnappings. Some felt the gathering was reckless - misplaced adventurism. But to the 200 Christian volunteers (majority first timers to Sulu), it was an act to make their faith in God build peace for the people of Sulu. In the silence of the hearts of both Muslims and Christians while tinged with fear, we were all thanking God for the historic opportunity to carve out a new path to peace. The GK Way! We left Sulu with 30 houses. It will not even scratch the surface in ending poverty, but it sends a message for generations to come that PEACE IS POSSIBLE!

April 30, 2009

Gawad Kalinga was first born in the hearts, minds and lives of Couples for Christ (CFC). Since its inception, the Couples for Christ community unselfishly served as the parent and steward of this gift. The CFC Community nurtured, cared for and shared GK to the rest of the Filipino people. By doing so, it gave birth to concrete expressions of HOPE, FAITH, LOVE, PATRIOTISM and SOLIDARITY through the GK Way – the ways of Christ, the very life and mission of Christ. It is with these beginnings that GK will sailblaze into the future, following the mission of "bringing glad tidings to the poor."

The CFC – International Council announced its decision to let go of Gawad Kalinga in their April 30, 2009 memorandum. This decision became a starting point for Gawad Kalinga Community Development Foundation Inc. to build an organization distinct from Couples for Christ ensuring accountability, efficiency and growth of GK while remaining in solidarity with Couples for Christ. Our thrust is to reach out to all sectors of society who believe in GK's vision and mission of ending poverty by building communities.

June 12 to 14

Cambridge, Massachusetts. No less than Vice President Noli de Castro and 1,000 delegates (famous and ordinary) made this gathering historic not because of their stature but because of the hope for the Philippines that each one brought with them as they filled the halls and convention center of the Marriott. Each delegate took on the duty to be in solidarity with the poor in their plight to overcome poverty. A sense of nationhood was unfolding. Gawad Kalinga unveiled its VISION 2024: ending poverty for 5 million families. With faith in God, the battle cry was for global collaboration to build communities to end poverty! Heroism was the response! Citizens became patriots! Love for the motherland became very real for everyone until the second to third generation Filipino-Americans. The event has inspired countless initiatives from different groups in North America that fueled the GK work for 2009.

September 26

Typhoon Ondoy is going to be remembered as the typhoon that reshaped Metro Manila not only because of the destruction it wrought but the massive response for relief and reconstruction efforts that will be mounted. Random acts of heroism and extraordinary courage filled the news, even as millions more remained unrecognized. TO THOSE UNSUNG HEROES OF ONDOY, GAWAD KALINGA SALUTES YOU! Together with other groups, GK found itself at the forefront of massive relief operations to the different affected areas. Filipinos in North America and local corporations contributed extraordinarily to create a storm of support for the victims through GK. Today, we are partnered with the Philippine Disaster Reconstruction Foundation (PDRF) tasked to plan and execute a massive "reconstruction campaign" attempting to mitigate future massive flooding through a massive housing program.

November 27

The GK Board reconstituted its membership to include five new members. Five individuals were invited into the board. Allow me to introduce the new GK Board :

Chairman: Mr. Antonio Meloto

Members: Mr. Gerardo Ablaiza, Mr. Edgar Chua, Ms. Elisea Gozun, Mr. Michael Goco, Mr. Ernesto Maipid, Jr., Fr. Bienvenido Lebres, S.J., Mr. Tony Olaes, Mr. Jose Luis Quiñena (myself), Mr. Manuel V. Pangilinan and Ms. Maria Isabel Cuevas-Santos

The new GK Board, together with the GK Management Groups, Caretaker Teams, Volunteers and Partners will take stock of what we have built for the past 7 years. With the heroism of the poor, sacrifices of the volunteers and the unwavering support of our partners, Gawad Kalinga looks to 2010 as the springboard to propel the hearts and minds of everyone in achieving VISION 2024: BUILDING COMMUNITIES TO END POVERTY.

We thank the Lord for GK Year 2009, let us together make 2010 a year of answered prayers to as many poor as we can embrace! Never doubt in your heart that we all can end poverty with God and for Country!

VALANG IWANAN!

Message from a GK Kapitbahayan

by Thom Banatao, AAA GK Molave Village

Maraming salamat, Gawad Kalinga.

Hindi sapat ang mga salita upang lubusang ipaabot ang aming sinserong pagtanaw ng utang na loob sa lahat ng inyong ibinigay sa amin — sa PAGMAMAHAL na hindi umuuri at sumusukat ng ating pagkakaiba; sa DIGNIDAD na sya'ng nagbigay sa amin ng simula upang hanapin ang aming sariling lakas at silbi; at higit sa lahat, sa PAG-ASA na mayroong kaming kaagapay sa hamon ng buhay.

Ang mga dating tila mahina at umaalog na haligi ng tahanan ay nagkaroon ng tibay na maasahan sa pagtaguyod ni pamilya. Kung dati'y nakatutok lamang sa kabutihan ng sariling pamilya, o kung hindi ma'y nag-iinuman o nagsusuga ang mga ama ay natutong makisalamuha at makiisa sa mga gawaing pang-komunidad at ituwid ang sariling katwiran.

Ang mga dati'y aandap-andap na ilaw ng tahanan ay muling sinilawan ng liwanag na syang nagbigay kinang sa bawat pamilya. Kung dati'y nauubos ang oras sa huntahan, ang mga ina ng tahanan ay makikitang abala ngayon sa paggawa dulot ng mga proyektong pangkabuhayang tulad ng R2R at Bejeweled.

Ang mga kabataang nasa balag ng alanganin ang kinabukanan na naging sanhi ng kawalan ng tiwala sa sarili at nabiyang pag-asa na maaring iangat ang sarili sa kasalukuyang kalagayan. Sa mga theater workshops at values formation, muling nailabas ang natatagong talento at galing ng aming mga teenagers, na maaring puhunan sa pagsabak sa hamon ng buhay.

Ang mga paslit na dati'y abala lamang sa paglalaro, na di alintana ang sariling-kalinisan at kaayusan ng pag-uugali at naging magalang at mas mabuting anak sa kanilang mga magulang. Sa pagsali sa mga pagtitipong tulad ng International Kids' Village, SAGIP Olympics at talent workshops, ang mga munting kabataan namin ay natutong makisalamuha sa iba't-ibang tao, lumawak ang pananaw at nakitang may mas malaking mundo ng oportunidad na sa kanila'y naghihintay.

Ang bawat pamilyang dati'y kung hindi nag-aaway at hindi naman nagpapansinan dahil abala sa kani-kanilang sariling buhay ay naging isang mas malaking pamilyang nagkakaintindihan, magkakaibigan at nagkakaisa sa paghahangad at pagkilos tungo sa isang komunidad na syang nais ng bawat isa na kalakihan ng kanilang mga anak.

Ang lahat ng ito'y imposibleng mangyari kung hindi dahil sa Gawad Kalinga, sa Ateneo Alumni Association, sa mga masigasig at masisipag na Caretakers at higit sa lahat sa Poong Maykapal na patuloy na gumagabay at kumakalinga sa mga nagtiwiwala sa Kanya.

Muli, maraming salamat Gawad Kalinga.

English Translation:

Thank you, Gawad Kalinga.

Words are not enough to express our sincere gratitude for all the things you have given us - for the LOVE that does not judge nor measure our differences; for the DIGNITY that gave us a fresh start to find our own strength and purpose; and most of all, for the HOPE that assures us that we have people to support us as we face the challenges of life.

The pillars of the home who were weak and unstable have found the strength that can be relied upon for building a family. If in the past, they only focused on their own families or on drinking and gambling, fathers have learned to join and participate in community activities and made their paths straight.

The flickering lights of the home were lighted anew giving brilliance to every family. If in the past they waste their time gossiping, the mothers are now busy working on livelihood projects from R2R and Bejeweled (social enterprises).

The youth who were once uncertain about their future, causing them to lose trust in themselves, were given hope that it was possible to lift themselves out of their current situation. Through theater workshops and values formation, the hidden talents of our teenagers were revealed; talents which can be their capital in facing the challenges of life.

The children who were preoccupied only with playing without a thought for their hygiene and values, became respectful and better sons and daughters to their parents. By participating in assemblies such as the International Kids' Village, the SAGIP Olympics and talent workshops, our little children learned how to face different people and saw a bigger world of opportunity awaiting them.

Every family who used to quarrel a lot or ignore each other because they were busy with their own lives became a bigger family that understood each other, became friends, united in desiring and moving towards building the kind of community where they would like their children to grow up.

All of these wouldn't have been possible if not for Gawad Kalinga, the Ateneo Alumni Association, the diligent and hardworking caretakers and most of all, God above, who continues to take care and guide those who have faith in Him.

Again, thank you Gawad Kalinga.

Message from a Caretaker

by Roger Aldover, PD and Caretaker Team Head, GK Espiritu Santo, Sitio Pajo, QC

I have always wanted to be a physician and ended up a practicing mechanical/energy engineer. Today, I am only one among thousands of men and women who joined up with Gawad Kalinga's unique calling. My GK community is at Sitio Pajo. Walking down Sitio Pajo's newly paved pathways remind me of my barrio in Bolbok, Batangas City. It is like going home - to a place so simple in needs and lifestyle and yet rich in tolerance and bayanihan spirit. It is a unique privilege to lend a helping hand in community building, in sourcing funds and resources to build sturdy houses and a sustainable community. It is an even greater blessing during the awarding or turnover day when simple and functional houses are presented to respective families/owners. The smiles, the tears of people who before were complete strangers to me, warm my heart and I am happy. Yes, I did not become a physician but I like to believe that I responded to another social calling.

I serve at the GK Espiritu Santo at Sitio Pajo, Barangay Baesa, District 2, Quezon City. It sits on a 1.6 hectare lot formerly owned by NAPOCOR. Abandoned for many years, the place became occupied by about 700 families, either original settlers or renters. The exodus of informal settlers has begun thirty years ago long before CFC came. The place was crowded with decrepit and makeshift shanties along littered footpaths and filthy canals. Big fires ravaged it in October 2000 and in February 2009. It has deteriorated to become the poorest and most problematic in Quezon City. The QC Government, in one of its LGU meetings with the residents and CFC, proposed that it will acquire the property on the condition that CFC/GK would develop it into a GK village. Thus Sitio Pajo was picked as GK site for West C Sector Cluster 4 in 2006.

People would invariably ask how I started GK work. In 2004, my 20 year old twins and children of fellow CFCs were into YFC community build activities. They helped construct the earlier batch of GK houses in Bagong Silang. Of course my role then was more of support, the usual transport Dad. But the sight of my boys and their friends labouring under the sun to meet the target of one finished house over one weekend excited me as well. I joined them. Their volunteer work was a hot topic during mealtimes. They talked as if mature persons who were happy to have taken part in one wholesome cause.

Two years later, Bro Ernie Maipid advised Bro Mandy Constantino and me that we will be transferred from our CFC household to a GK site which was Sitio Pajo. Initially, I was hesitant because this was not the type of service envisioned providing. I believed that such enormous challenge could be met by more dedicated missionaries. I had just retired with no consultancy job offers, with a family to support and had to expend time for Sitio Pajo. Yet I accepted.

In May 2, 2007, the Memorandum of Agreement between the NAPOCOR, QC Government and the Sitio Pajo association was signed. We can already begin work. Thirty-one shanties were demolished to give way to the GK pilot area and to an access road. Members continued attending their value formation seminars.

When we started, there were only two houses at Sitio Pajo which served as symbol of hope that 325 families will have houses of their own. Bro Tony Meloto introduced to us Colgate Palmolive Philippines (CPP) which became our first partner. In September 2007, it pledged 10 units. When it saw the joy of the families receiving the completed units and the vibrant neighbourhood association, CPP upped it to 50 units to become the Bright Smiles GK Village. Not long after, it added another 50 units to be the Bright Futures Village. Inspired by their company's magnanimity and adherence to corporate social responsibility, employees of CPP donated another unit.

Other companies and individuals followed suit: Philippine Military Academy Makatarungan Class 1978, 50 units; Orl Punsalan Family, 30; Texas Association of Philippine Physicians, 30; ANCOP Canada, 18; CFC Handmaids of the Lord International, 37; ALL 85 Group, 26; Cristina Labog, 1; UST, 1; F&K Delvotec, 2; Handy Property, 3; PC&V Communications, 3; Bayantel, 1; Justo Ortiz, 1; Jun Alli, 1; Raymond Zalamea, 1; and Reyes Family, 1. The funds are complete!

To date, 216 units have been turned over to the new owners. By September 2010, it may be 287. Hand in hand with house construction are other programs on livelihood, health, education, environment, youth development and infrastructure. The prime factor is a strong, unified Kapitbahayan.

Beyond my professional and family life, GK was the greatest thing that happened to me. It was amazing and yet humbling that at my age I was able to conquer a personal fear of accepting an enormous responsibility of helping build a community, when I owned nothing but some technical and corporate skills. It was a choice and not sacrifice. During my daily visits at Sitio Pajo, I became emboldened by people who believed that it can be done. And they were mostly women, like Tita Nena Bago. She headed the group which persistently worked for more than twenty years that the land be theirs.

I get my highs when I see their joy, the bounce in their steps when they enter their new homes, and the community practicing bayanihan. On the other hand, while it is unavoidable that disagreements, dissonance of ideas and plans may arise, we iron them out to ensure good work progress. The problems, we constantly told them, are challenges to unite and strengthen them.

Everyday spent at GK yields stories that can make a book for learning – stories that portray real things, real events and real people. It makes us pause and reflect not only about ourselves but also about other people. There will be insights gained and lessons learned – lessons on patience, leadership and determination, grace, humility and kindness. God brought me to a bigger set of people – the GK community that echoes the same calling as mine. It is akin to a gathering, like an army used by God as instruments to touch His peoples' lives. When every man and woman contributes in any small way to uplift the lives of others, be it cultural, spiritual, environmental, health or socioeconomic (as in house building), it helps not only the family concerned but the country as well and humanity as a whole.

Making a Difference

By Cirilo P. Noel, Managing Partner, SGV & Co.

If we were to name the most meaningful event for us as a firm in 2009, at the top of the list is – without question or hesitation – our joint undertaking with Gawad Kalinga (GK).

Working on a GK project had been brought up in SGV for a number of years. Some of our partners and staff have participated in builds on their own initiative but involvement at an institutional scale took longer to happen. What, then, finally inspired us to commit to a GK project? Washington SyCip.

SGV Founder, Mr. Washington SyCip, turned 88 years old in 2009 – an auspicious age that was well worth celebrating. In fact, Mr. SyCip's lifework is in itself a celebration of how vision and compassion, grounded in a whole lot of social business sense, can transform society.

For a man who had dedicated his entire life to the advancement of the Filipino – and proving that Filipino professionals are among the best in the world – Mr. SyCip continues to be a role model to the business community at large. Of his stature and wisdom have allowed him to be a very outspoken advocate of poverty alleviation through improvement of basic public education and making available affordable financing, housing and health care.

SGV partners decided to look into how we can best work with GK that would involve the entire firm which now totals 2,500 professionals. The result was the selection of a community in Camarin in Kalookan City that will be transformed into "Village 88" comprising 88 homes in honor of Mr. SyCip's 88th birthday.

The project was announced on Mr. SyCip's birthday on June 30, 2009 where SGV partners presented him and Tony Meloto with 88 symbolic miniature houses at a formal party in Makati Shangri-La. On August 21, 2009, Mr. SyCip and the SGV partners participated in the groundbreaking ceremonies at the site in Camarin. Last December 4, 2009, we returned there to turn over the first 16 homes to their occupants – an early Christmas gift to the community.

Every weekend since August 29, partners and staff of SGV & Co. troop to Camarin and participate in the building of Village 88. The residents of Camarin have been very generous with their own gifts of cooperation, friendship and gratitude. We are hopeful that all 88 homes will be completed in 2010.

At SGV & Co, we continually ask ourselves this question: How can we make a difference? This relates not only to our clients, our business or our profession. Rather, we seek to make a profound difference in our communities for the greater good of people everywhere. We have embarked on the high road to making a difference, not only in the accounting profession, but more importantly to be in the business of doing good. Partnering with GK has made a difference not only in the lives of our friends in Village 88, but most importantly, in our own lives.

An Opportunity of a Lifetime to be Young Heroes

By Moh. Murshid Alfaid Abdulmajid, GK Sulu Youth

When I first volunteered for Gawad Kalinga, I knew I was blessed because not everybody had the chance to help other people. For this reason, the moment I had the chance, I grabbed it right away.

I first volunteered for Gawad Kalinga Bayani Challenge in 2008 as a member of Team Sulu organized by Tito Boing Ecarma, Gov Abdusakur Tan (who gave each volunteer three thousand pesos), Mayor Kabir Hayudini and my mother, Jainab, who used to be the Executive Director of the Area Coordinating Center of Sulu and who mobilized other logistical support for the team.

Team Sulu was composed of a group of builders from the GK Village recipients, my elder brother Miqdad, two Marine Officers and I. I was the youngest member of the team and everyone called me "bunso" (youngest one).

We travelled by boat from Jolo to Zamboanga, then by bus to Cagayan de Oro and the rest of the journey by either jeepney, van, and cars till we reached our final destination, Natid-asan, a Gawad Kalinga Village in Bukidnon.

While on the bus at about eight o'clock in the morning, I vomited after eating my breakfast because the long trip made me dizzy. Our bus travel was from 6:00AM to 6:00PM. I was dead tired.

When we arrived at Natid-asan at around 10:00 PM, I felt the urge to lie down and sleep as fast as I could, but the warm welcome given to me and to my brother by the members of the Youth for Christ made me forget my tiredness and sleepiness. Instantly, we became friends with the youth members.

Every morning during the entire duration of the build, we always started the day with prayers and exercises at the site after breakfast. We then bathe. Those never ending physical exercises were really tough but fun!

Our primary task, aside from establishing relationships, was to build houses for the homeless. To my surprise, the houses were to be made of bricks and were much more difficult to build than if we were to use hollow blocks. But it was fun. And, because of our strong will and determination to help the needy, we did our job!

I enjoyed everything, the food, the hospitality, the environment. Everyday was a terrific day but the most rewarding experiences were being able to help the homeless people, the friendship, and the brotherhood.

Because of Gawad Kalinga, we were able to extend our help, gained new friends, worthwhile experiences and felt what a hero feels.

Bravely confronting fear in order to bring glad tidings to the poor, 300
GK volunteers courageously sowed the seeds of peace just a few towns away from where a kidnapped International Red Cross volunteer remained captive. Our GK heroes built hand in hand with the Tausugs at Panglima Estino for a people thirsty for refreshing hope.

The Bayani Challenge in Mindanao dubbed as brought together builders from all walks of life, with volunteers coming from the United States, Australia and Singapore. The event was made possible through the support of Philippine Navy Brigadier General Natalio Ecarma and Mayor Munib Estino in Sulu.

In Titungatung, Zamboanga, Mayor Celso Lobregat welcomed 500 GK volunteers who built 62 homes alongside their Muslim brothers and sisters.

A week of sacrifice and friendship fittingly culminated with the Mi casa es tu casa (My home is your home) HOPE Summit and the Highway of Peace where GK advocates from all over Mindanao journeyed together in fellowship, renewing their commitment to continue taking the GK way, the path to peace in Mindanao.

AMIDST THE HUNGER

GK BRINGS
FOOD SUFFICIENCY

In 2009, the Social Weather Station reported that 4 million households (20 million individuals) were experiencing involuntary hunger.

GK partnered with the Department of Agriculture to officially launch GK Bayan-Anihan on March 28, 2009.

GK Bayan-Anihan is our solution to hunger in the Philippines.

"For a naturally abundant country, we don't deserve to be hungry."

GK chairman Antonio Meloto said that GK Bayan-Anihan is empowering communities to produce food for their own consumption by tilling the country's vast arable land.

Through the help of multi-sectoral partners, 420 farms have risen all over the Philippines since it was first launched, feeding 65,000 people.

"Goodbye Gutom!
Empower the poor.
Eradicate hunger."

became GK Bayan-Anihan's official battle cry.

In the next 3 years, we seek to build 2,500 farms which will feed 500,000 people for life.

AMIDST YOUTH DELINQUENCY AND APATHY

GK DRIVES
A NEW FORCE

Many young people today wander aimlessly, not really knowing their purpose in life. Having no direction and without proper guidance, they are susceptible to bad influences in society. Some of them will try drugs or join gangs just out of curiosity with negative consequences.

GK seeks to counteract delinquency and apathy among our youth by directing their energy to more productive endeavors, awakening their dormant spirit of patriotism. GK is offering them a real purpose in life: to become heroes for their country especially for the poor.

The First GK Youth Summit in August 2009, organized by GK's Isang Milyong Bayani carried the theme

"Kabataan: Lakas ng Pagbabago"

(Youth as a Force for Change). It gathered young leaders from all over the Philippines at the University of Makati, some coming as far as Sulu.

Sharing the GK way to the young people of Asia was the mission of GK Muslim worker Bai Linda Eman last June as she spoke at the ASEAN Youth Club Summit in Singapore. Bai, a former Muslim rebel in Mindanao, is an inspiring example of how lives have been transformed through the GK path of peace.

Longing to build a better world for the poor of their generation, the youth from Australia, Singapore, Taiwan and the United States trooped in groups to the Philippines in order to make a difference by immersing in GK communities and helping in any way they can.

Their mere presence renewed the hope of the youth in GK communities.

IN THE FACE OF FILIPINO EXODUS

GK BRINGS HOME HEROES

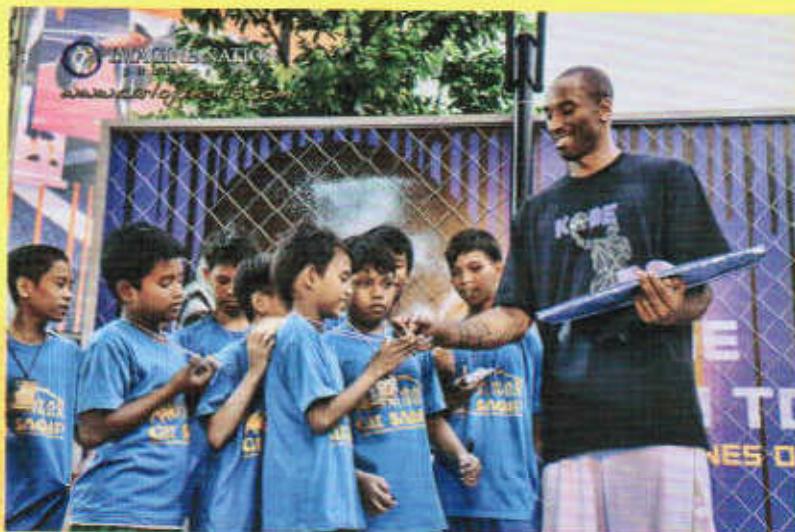

While many Filipinos leave the country in search of better opportunities,

GK attracts the best minds and talents from overseas who are inspired by the work of transformation happening in the Philippines. In 2009, GK welcomed hundreds of balik-bayanis (returning heroes), second generation Filipinos coming home, and foreigners who came to help, experience and learn from GK.

Students from premiere schools in the US such as Brandeis University, University of California Los Angeles and Georgetown University immersed in GK communities. Through the GK International Volunteer Programs and GK GRIP - Global Research and Internship Program, volunteers abroad have the opportunity to serve in GK communities and do relevant research on poverty eradication.

More volunteers are expected to arrive as the work of GK continues to expand globally.

The inspiring story of GK has also brought in celebrities from overseas. In July 2009, through Nike Philippines, International NBA star Kobe Bryant met up with GK kids during his visit to Manila. He encouraged the children of Gawad Kalinga to reach for their dreams.

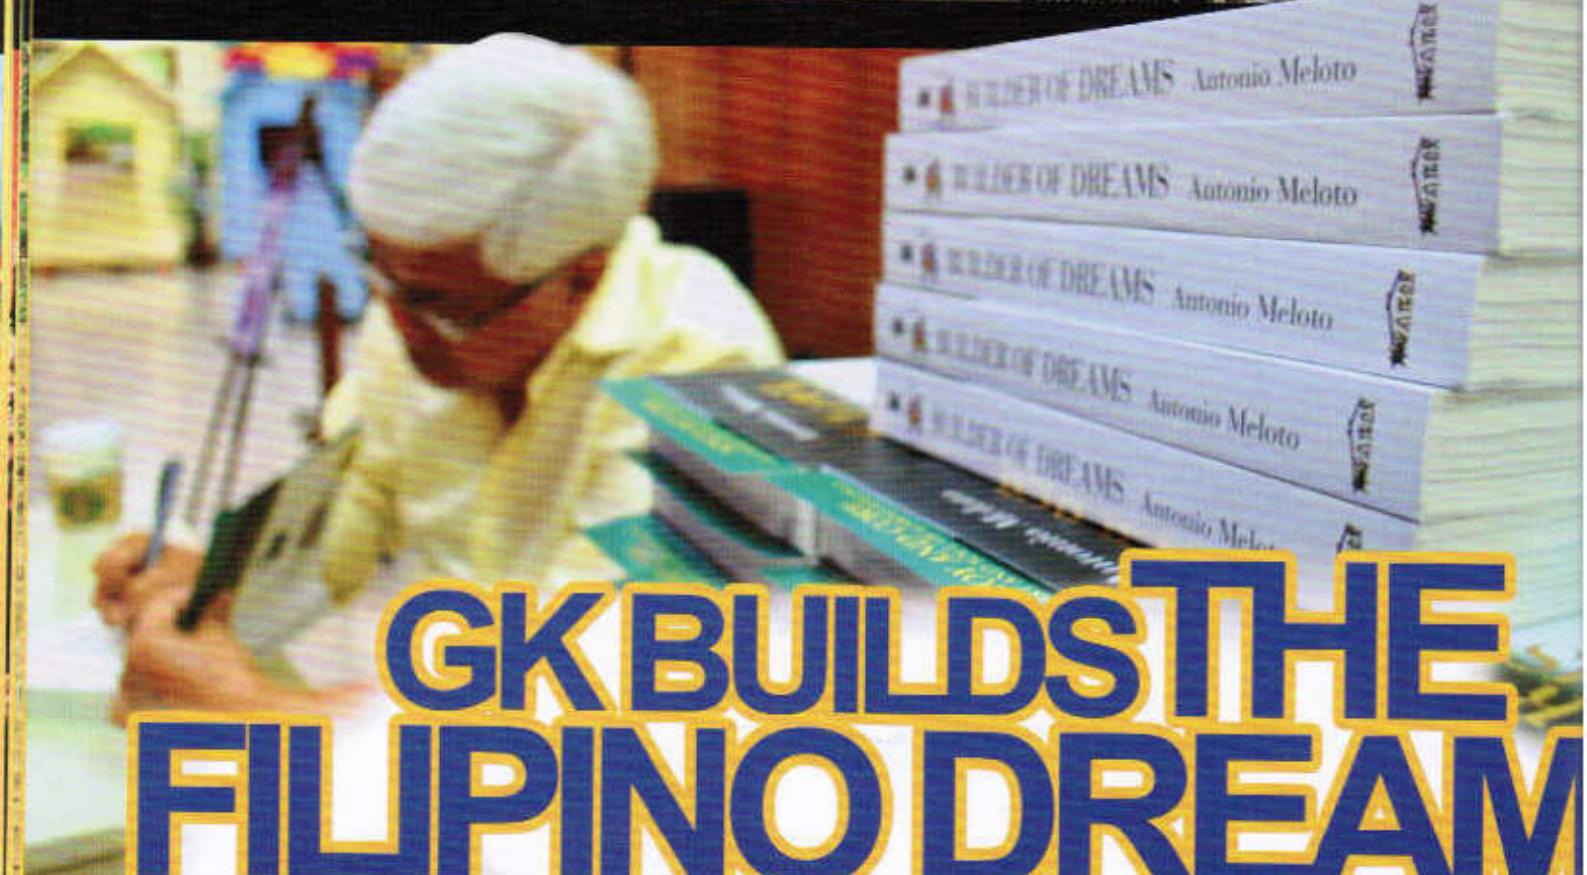

NBA legends Dominique Wilkins, Vlade Divac and Tim Hardaway also came to visit GK Pinagsama, helping paint homes and sharing their presence with the GK residents.

AMIDST HOPELESSNESS

FILIPINO DREAM

The image shows a woman with a white headwrap and a yellow shirt, smiling and holding a stack of books. The books are titled "WILDER OF DREAMS" by Antonio Meloto. The background is a bright, airy room with bookshelves.

When Tony Meloto first came to the slums of Bagong Silang, he discovered his calling amidst the despair and helplessness. He realized,

"I am not complete without the poor. My lifetime calling is to be my brother's keeper."

And the Builder of Dreams was born. Launched in the United States, Philippines and Singapore, the book chronicles the beginnings of the Gawad Kalinga journey.

After the death of former president Corazon Aquino and the anniversary of Ninoy Aquino's assassination, Meloto dedicated his Philippine book launch to them on August 31 in honor of their great love for the country.

"The challenge to GK as an expression of People Power is for us to be living everyday heroes," Meloto said, following the example of the heroism of Ninoy and Cory who lived lives of integrity and sacrifice.

"Our country needs lifetime heroes, millions of them - not the once-in-a-lifetime great leader who will lead us to glory. There is only one Ninoy and only one Cory in our lifetime - but there are millions of Filipinos who can love this country as much as they did,"

Meloto said as he rallied all Filipinos to become heroes to one another.

IN THE FACE OF GLOBAL CRUNCH

World stocks fall 11%
in 3 days as 3 years of recession loom

GK INSPIRES GLOBAL BAYANIHAN

Despite the global crunch,
the movement of hope is growing in the world.

As an emerging Asian template for development, Gawad Kalinga was launched to the world during the Global Summit 2024 in Boston on June 12.

700 delegates from the US, Canada, Singapore, Malaysia, India, Columbia and the Philippines made history as they joined this gathering of Gawad Kalinga patriots, partners and friends.

Across the globe,
the bayanihan
spirit is alive.

In Europe, our GK volunteers from Ireland and Austria ran grueling marathons to raise awareness and funds to build Sibol schools. The annual GK walk in Canada and a GK Adobo Fest in the US were also held to benefit the poor.

Singapore began the GK Hope Initiative, promoting GK as a credible international organization for development. Through GK Hi, Tripura Foundation will bring GK to India. In November, GK's Tony Meloto spoke at the APEC CEO Summit on corporate social responsibility where 1,000 of the world's top business leaders converged in Singapore.

IN THE FACE OF HELPLESSNESS

GK INSPIRES THE BEST IN THE YOUNG

Many GK heroes continue to invest in the potential of the young, especially the poor, who are the country's greatest resource for the future. Henry Moran made it his mission to help provide opportunities for poor Filipinos with a talent for sports. He started the GK Liga Futbol and initiated a football league among GK communities to bring out their talents and helped them participate in the trials for the Street Child World Cup.

The baseball field at Smokey Mountain is an ongoing project dreamed up by GK project director Manuel Marquez and Chito Gonzales, an official of Little League Philippines. They wanted to mine Smokey Mountain for talents in the hope of giving its residents an opportunity at improving their lives for the better. With great faith, training and the support of GK's partners, the foundation for change has been laid and dreams are there for the catching.

The Ateneo Heroes Academy Recital Night held on May 30 sought to maximize the potential of our GK SIGA. 51 youth from 13 GK villages, attended the summer camp where their talents in the performing arts were honed. It was amazing what mentoring, care and support can do to help the poor GK youth shine and fulfill their potentials.

AMIDST ECONOMIC RECESSION

GK ATTRACTS CORPORATE INVESTMENTS

Despite the global economic crunch of 2009, GK's corporate partners did not leave their adopted GK communities behind. Thanks to them, the poor are protected from the harsh consequences of recession on poor communities. Seeking to give the best for the least, Metrobank Foundation launched the Designer Village Challenge to encourage the best minds from the architecture and design industries to use their talents to build beautiful communities for the poor.

Protecting the environment by empowering the poor to become good stewards of our natural resources, Nestlé Philippines began the Nestlé-Malarayat Rural Bank GK Eco Village in San Isidro, Lipa City.

PLDT-SMART trained the youth of Brgy. Sooc in Iloilo to make terra cotta pottery and supported GK's growth by investing on technology - Unity and Quicknet which will help GK serve more efficiently.

Globe Telecom, through their Bangon Pinoy program, partnered with GK in caring for typhoon victims in Marikina and Tarlac. They also made sure that the poor will not go hungry again by supporting 35 farms in partnership with GK Bayan-Anihan.

Alaska chief Fred Uytengsu chose to care for the poor.

running a race against poverty.

He promoted GK through a viral video campaign and dedicated his triathlon race at the grueling Ironman Challenge in Hawaii to help the poor, raising P2 million to build more homes at the Alaska GK village in Laguna.

IN THE FACE OF DISASTER

GK INSPIRES A HEROIC RESPONSE

Last year, the Philippines endured the devastation of Typhoons Ondoy and Pepeng (Ketsana and Parma) which submerged various cities in Metro Manila and northern Luzon. Thanks to an empowered GK Kapitbayan, the residents of GK communities were able to organize themselves in a timely manner preventing dire consequences.

As a result, there were no casualties in affected GK sites. They also became command centers for the relief operations.

The previous victims of poverty have now become the bearers of hope.

Gawad Kalinga with Go Negosyo launched Operation GK Walang Iwanan (Leave No One Behind) at the RFM Headquarters. About 6,000 registered volunteers came to re-pack and distribute basic necessities to typhoon victims, going to unreachable areas with the help of the Armed Forces of the Philippines. GK distributed almost 200,000 assorted food packs in its six weeks of operations.

Operation GK Walang Iwanan also went to Northern Luzon feeding children daily in Zambales province and providing relief goods to affected communities in Tarlac, La Union and the Ilocos Region. GK Kalusugan went to Pangasinan, Baguio and Benguet on a medical mission to heal an ailing land.

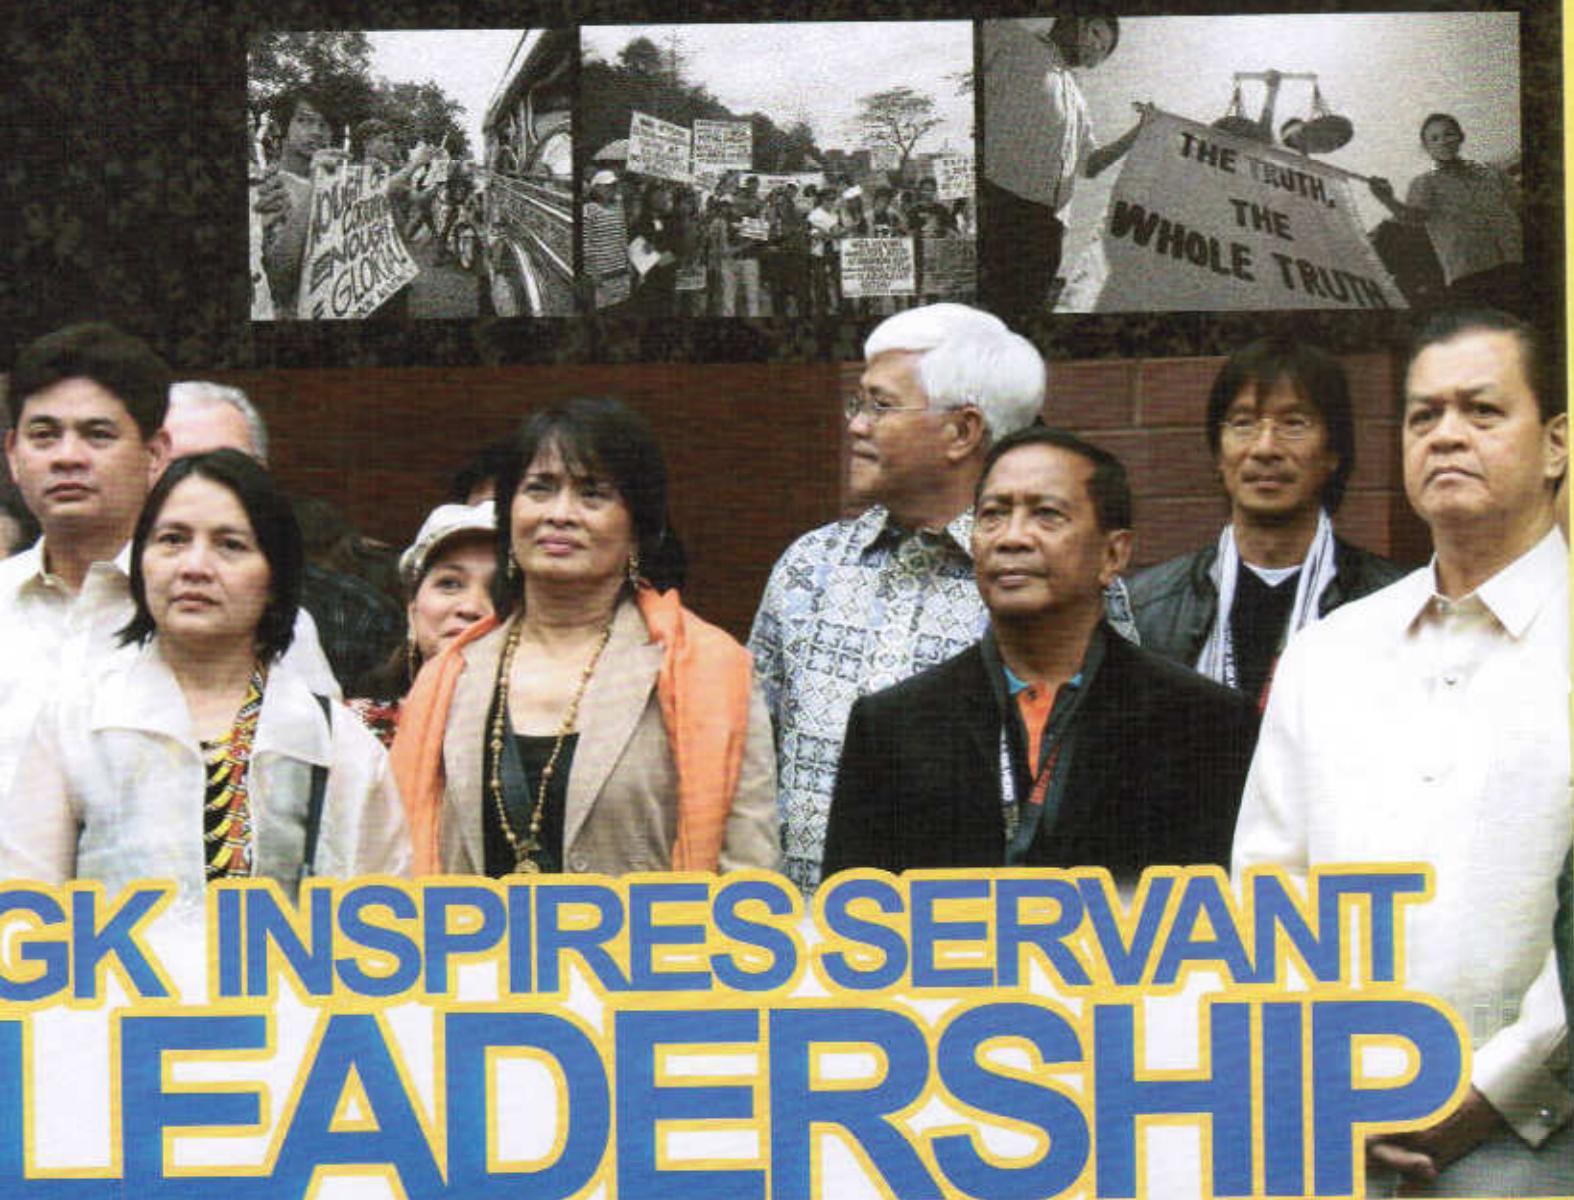

On December 5, the Pilipino Kaya Natin To concert was held by the Organisasyon ng Pilipinong Mang-aawit (OPM) at the SM Mall of Asia. Spearheaded by Ogie Alcasid, Filipino singers performed as one to rally hope for the country.

The event inspired generosity and heroism in all Filipinos who were called to be their brother's keeper.

AMIDST THE CHALLENGES OF GOOD GOVERNANCE

GK INSPIRES SERVANT LEADERSHIP

The Hong Kong-based Political and Economic Risk Consultancy reported that foreign businessmen perceived the Philippines to be the most corrupt economy among 13 countries across Asia. While the government suffers a notorious reputation,

GK finds hope in the integrity of many public servants who have placed the needs of their poor constituents as top priority, governing their towns, cities and provinces through the GK way.

Vice President Noli de Castro said:

"My love for country had to go beyond politics or profit"

Even as he steps down from public office in 2010, he vows to advocate GK's values formation program to families he helped relocate as chairman of the Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council.

In world-class Camarines Sur, Gov Lray Villafuerte did not leave the poor behind by building 72 GK villages to date, the most number in any given province.

In Metro Manila, Mayor Freddie Tinga is transforming Taguig into a GK Designer City with over 20 villages; directing not only the residents but also his local officials to undergo the GK values formation program.

In Makati city, Mayor Jejomar Binay rallied the business sector to pool in their resources to build GK homes for 480 poor families in 2009, building GK Dreamlandville in San Jose del Monte, Bulacan providing a brighter future for informal settlers.

In Nueva Ecija, San Isidro Mayor Sonia Lorenzo is using the GK way to collaborate and build stronger relationships with the civic sector as a good way of departing from traditional politics.

Trust is being built as more and more public servants follow the GK way of leadership:

"Una sa Serbisyo, Huli sa Benepisyo" - First to serve, last to benefit

2010 EMERGENT INITIATIVES

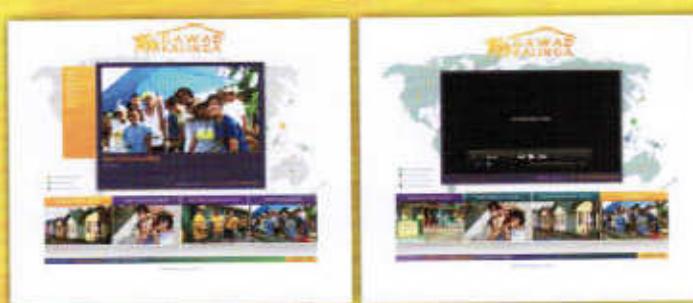

BAYANIHAN ECONOMICS

Together with McKinsey and Company and the Ateneo de Manila's School of Management, Gawad Kalinga is setting up the GK Bayanihan Ventures, the Center for Social Entrepreneurship. Aiming to create new business models where young entrepreneurs from Ateneo and De La Salle University partner with the GK villages, a new culture of productivity where abundance for all can be attained.

Seeking to liberate the underprivileged from the poverty mindset, GK learns from the experience of thousands of cooperatives and realizes that the poor cannot be left on their own and expected to become expert businessmen overnight.

With this insight, young entrepreneurs and their mentors from the business sector, walk hand-in-hand with the communities in mentoring the poor and making their businesses fly. Here we see the poor not just as a labor force, but as a real business partner. This is the start a new economy, where the poor and the young will present to the world an enlightened capitalism, the economics of sharing.

GAWAD KALINGA ONLINE

Gawad Kalinga initiated the GK MIS Project designed to help GK meet the needs of its global network of communities, volunteers and partners. It is a world-class system that successfully integrates both operational and financial information relevant to the GK organization, and will facilitate information sharing, budget and financial management, generation of key reports and will provide a local to global view of all projects of Gawad Kalinga.

It involves two systems that completely integrate with each other – GK Unity developed by Voncore, and Quicknet, a financial system developed by Embm. Both systems are 100% Filipino made, web-based, and are designed to be flexible enough to respond to the growing needs of the GK organization.

GK Unity and Quicknet programs will be integrated into the newly built gk1world.com, designed to support and mobilize GK volunteers and partners all over the world. One of the key elements of the new website is a high focus on volunteer group formation where GK volunteers will be able to join online groups that will alert them of GK events, news and activities in their respective countries and at the global headquarters in Manila. Each member will have their page and will be able to network with other GK volunteers and partners wherever they are in the world through GK1world's support systems. The website's features and global portals are expected to be fully functional by June 2010. The GK MIS System and the new GK website were made possible through the support of GK partners PLDT-Smart Communications and Globe Telecoms.

GK ESTATES

This year, GK's Community Infrastructure Program (CIP) begins to template the GK Estates, large scale GK communities, serving 300 families or more. The GK Estates seek to reduce the poverty penalty that the poor suffer from living in scattered, far-flung areas such as higher utilities bills, transportation costs, and far access from offices, hospitals, and markets. To be built in larger concentrations within ideal locations, the GK Estates will draw basic services such as utilities and transportation closer to the poor. Further, due to massive housing and construction efficiencies, the GK Estates homes will be delivered in a timely and a cost-effective manner.

Ideal for investment from GK's corporate partners and the government, minimum contribution to build a phase of the GK Estate is P3 million. The GK Estates are also expected to attract tourism and business opportunities.

The first GK Estate will be in Luzon, at St. Joseph's GK community in General Trias, Cavite.

RECONSTRUCTION

Gawad Kalinga has been in the forefront of relief and reconstruction efforts since 2003, when about 200 people lost their lives in Panaon Island in Southern Leyte due to landslides. From that time on, Gawad Kalinga has actively engaged local government units and the private sector not only for relief and rescue operations, but in the more difficult task of rehabilitation and reconstruction for the victims, as well as the proactive relocation of families who are at risk and living in danger zones throughout the country. After Typhoons Ondoy and Pepeng again struck the Philippines and caused massive devastation, Gawad Kalinga was requested by the City of Taguig, led by Mayor Freddie Tinga, to chair the reconstruction committee which the LGU created specifically to address the needs of the victims, as well as ensure that families living in choke points and disaster zones would also be relocated to safer communities.

Laura Drive is the pilot project – a master planned community designed by Bong Recio's team from Architects Inc. It will be home to about 500 families, and will benefit a community who are both fire and flood victims in Taguig. Gawad Kalinga has also been asked to join the Philippine Disaster Recovery Foundation (PDRF), whose Chairman, Manny Pangilinan, also sits in the Gawad Kalinga Board of Trustees.

2010 EMERGENT INITIATIVES

THE GK1MB BUILDERS CAMP FOR YOUTH LEADERS

The volunteer management group of Gawad Kalinga - GK1MB Isang Milyong Bayani (One Million Builders) will be holding this year, a weekly Builders Camp for GK volunteers who want to be more involved and commit to the work of nation building.

The Builders Camp seeks to instill GK's core values in the volunteers and to mobilize them to become GK Builders Action Team leaders in their organizations, responsible for carrying out the spirit and mission of GK in their respective institutions.

GK volunteers who attended the GK Orientation, immersed in GK activities and are willing to take on greater responsibility as a GK volunteer are encouraged to attend, especially youth leaders who want to learn from the GK way of leadership and lifestyle of heroism.

Since 2006, GK Isang Milyong Bayani has grown to become a global humanitarian movement currently established in major academic, corporate and civic institutions in key cities and provinces around the Philippines and in North America, Australia and Asia. Anyone who can commit at least 4 hours a month to do community work for GK can be part of GK1MB's Isang Milyong Bayani.

THE GK BUILDERS INSTITUTE FACILITATES GRIP PROGRAM

The GK Builders Institute's Global Research and Internship program (GRIP) is in full swing this year.

The program is for volunteers who want to contribute to expanding GK's knowledge and systems. GRIP works closely with higher education institutions to mobilize university and graduate students in making a difference for GK communities through research and internship.

Ranging from 1 month to 2 years, the volunteer serves in a GK Village and does research on an aspect of GK either decided by them or the local university. Interested participants must be currently enrolled in an undergraduate degree or in a full-time graduate study program (Masters and PhD).

GRIP seeks candidates who are undertaking courses related to GK's 7 programs and related fields. Fluency in English is required. For applications, please contact the GK Builders Institute at gkbi.national@gmail.com.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT THROUGH GREEN KALINGA

Saving the poor and saving the environment has always been Green Kalinga's priority. In 2010, GK's environment program will be focused on 3 key areas for sustainable development in its communities.

Greening GK Communities

Green Kalinga seeks to implement its first Agroforestry project in a rural GK community, planting both cash crops, fruit and forest trees and using sustainable farming methods to benefit farmers more. For urban communities with space constraints, a shift to a more edible landscape will be made, providing families with more nutritious fruits and vegetables at very minimal cost.

Water Resource Management

Adopting to the likely scenario of having more rainfall in the Philippines (as reported by a 2009 ADB study on the Economic Impacts of Climate Change in Southeast Asia), Green Kalinga has introduced rainwater catchments in GK communities. This provides for 5% of their water needs of the GK residents and also ensures water for their productivity farms.

Championing improved sanitation practices, Green Kalinga will incorporate in new GK communities centralized water treatment systems through Anaerobic Baffled Reactors (ABR) which will become the standard wastewater treatment. It will process 60% cleaner wastewater. Where land and livestock are available, Biogas Digesters or a Reed Bed System will be introduced to increase the effectiveness of treatment. Biogas Digesters are able to capture and use methane (a green house gas that contributes to global warming) for cooking and lighting purposes. In this way, the poor can contribute to the global effort to address climate change.

Ecological solid waste management

Green Kalinga will continue to hold awareness workshops on ecological solid waste management in several GK communities in partnership with other NGOs. The workshop teaches them how to segregate the waste at source into biodegradable and non-biodegradable wastes. GK communities who have implemented ecological waste management practices do not only have cleaner and healthier surroundings but have also enriched the productivity of their lands and found an additional source of income from the sale of recyclable products made from waste materials.

They come with their passion for the work and their considerable expertise. All that they need is your support so their excellence can be brought to serving the poor and their country.

Here are the many ways you can care and share through Gawad Kalinga

BE A VILLAGE BUILDER

Restore the dignity of the poor by building beautiful homes that are disaster-resilient and environment-friendly.

FINANCIAL STEWARDSHIP

OUR COMMITMENT

Gawad Kalinga is committed to TRANSPARENCY, EXCELLENCE and SIMPLICITY in the delivery of our services to the poor, our partners and volunteers.
It is of paramount importance to us that whatever you give to GK is optimized and is used to provide the best for the least.
Our systems and structures of operations are guided by these principles.

OUR DONOR PROFILE

In the beginning, much of the financial resources of GK were contributed by local partners, coming mostly from the immediate community of Couples for Christ who gave birth to GK. For the years 2005 through 2007 however, the growth spurt in donations was driven by a conscious strategy of engaging the different sectors of society to build communities for the poorest of the poor.

International Market

Through the international network of Couples for Christ, the work of Gawad Kalinga was introduced to the countries of North America, Europe and Australia. It was through the passion and commitment of our Filipino community in these countries that the word spread and caught fire initially through the first generation immigrants who longed to do something for the country they called home. They were likewise instrumental in bringing in philanthropic non-Filipinos who were in search of a solution to the growing problem of poverty in developing countries.

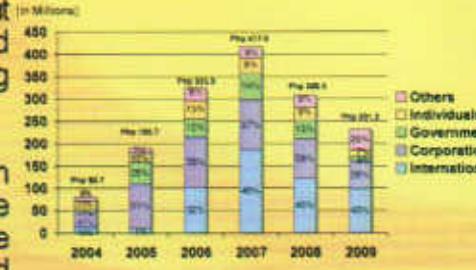

Year	Local	International	Total
2004	80.7	17.4	98.1
2005	150.7	13.2	163.9
2006	211.4	123.5	334.9
2007	295.2	17.7	417.9
2008	186.0	122.9	308.5
2009	122.9	131.6	254.5

In 2008 and 2009, receipts from these countries were gravely affected by the foreign currency fluctuations and the global recession. This however has not stopped the constant flow of visiting heroes from among the second generation Filipinos and non-Filipino youth who were intrigued and attracted by the concrete hope they could see and experience in the GK communities.

Private and Public Sector Convergence

The massive destruction wrought by typhoons in North and Southern Luzon and other disasters in other parts of the country in 2005 through 2007 brought about a heroic response from the public and private sectors as they raced together to re-build the communities for the displaced poor families.

Making up the massive infusion of funds from the government were key government agencies: Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD), Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council (HUDCC), the National Disaster Coordinating Council (NDCC) and the Presidential Management Staff (PMS).

Year	Others	Individuals	Government	Corporations	International	Total
2004	10.7	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	12.6
2005	15.1	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	17.0
2006	21.3	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	23.2
2007	27.1	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	29.0
2008	22.1	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	24.0
2009	18.1	1.7	0.1	0.1	0.1	20.0

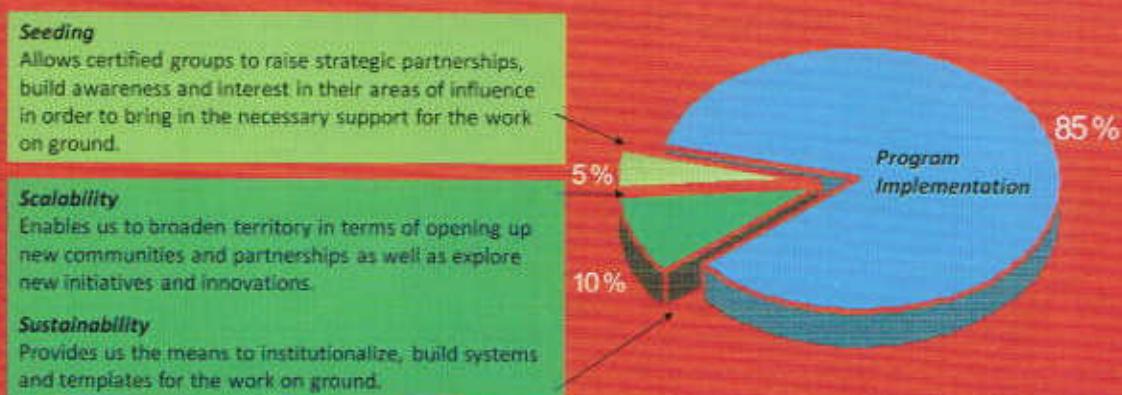

It was also during this time that big corporations began to take notice and active interest in GK and in GK's way of transforming the slums around them into beautiful and productive communities. Top Filipino corporations as well as multinationals took their place at the forefront of this growing GK movement, setting aside inter-corporate squabbles and differences, and forging unprecedented partnerships with both national and local government units. While the objective of all parties was still primarily to restore the dignity of the poor, GK became the viable avenue in rebuilding trust and confidence in and among each other and with it, a deep and strong sense of nationhood.

Besides the influx of financial resources, GK inspired and created mechanisms to usher in unprecedented land donations in many parts of the country. By working with both individual land donors and local government units, massive land-banking has been done to realize our vision of providing land for the landless.

YOUR SHARE TO BUILD A BETTER WORLD

We believe that in order to truly end poverty, one needs to build communities that restore the dignity and encourage the productivity of the poor in order that they become responsible and active citizens of this world. We also recognize that it does not just start and end there. It is thus vital that we create a bigger impact on the world outside these communities – where true societal transformation, one that is lasting and effective, can take place.

To help us bring this greater consciousness and lasting change to society at large, we set aside a modest portion of your donation for three main thrusts:

Your humble contribution concretely brings us closer to our vision of ending poverty to 5 million families by 2024.

Individuals and Other Groups

Notable is the steady flow of funds from civic organizations and families/individuals who in their sincerest desire to do their part in building our nation actively seek out GK. While these sectors take up the smallest share of the pie, their consistent contributions through the years despite economic challenges shows that even the ordinary amongst them want to create a true and lasting change in the landscape of our country. Encouraged by their selflessness, we aim to provide more avenues in 2010 to further empower this segment.

ONE ACT OF SHARING TRIGGERS MULTIPLE ACTS OF SHARING ON THE GROUND

This is how we can grow a culture of caring and sharing that can end poverty.

Through creative leveraging of resources, every peso you give is multiplied at least four times over because of the sweat equity of the beneficiaries themselves, volunteer services, and donations in kind, like land and land development, provided by corporations, government and other partners.

FINANCIAL STEWARDSHIP

The Challenging Year of 2009

Many victories came our way in 2009 through the radical initiatives we continued to pursue, and many, exciting partnerships came to full fruition. But it was likewise a most challenging year for the young Gawad Kalinga organization.

Due to the financial distress experienced all over the world, with key industries getting sorely hit, donations dropped to its lowest level. In addition, Gawad Kalinga experienced organizational challenges that hampered our delivery capability on the ground. Systems and processes put in place four years ago and designed for a much smaller organization proved to be inadequate. Further, our vision of ending poverty to 5 million families by 2024 necessitated that we build a strong backbone organization, one that is capable of engaging ALL sectors of society but at the same time, not compromising its accountability and delivery.

The second half of 2009 saw the organization revisiting its structure and coming up with new operating systems and procedures to ensure effectiveness and efficiency. As we move confidently forward in 2010, Gawad Kalinga is now poised to intensify its efforts in building up the global movement that provides concrete hope for both the poor and those who want to help the poor.

Despite the many challenges in organizational growth, we at Gawad Kalinga, its workers and its leaders, always keep in mind that we are here because of our shared mission to serve the poor. Many of us have made this the driving force behind our work and have willingly sacrificed comforts and conveniences which we know are all part of the package. It is because of this missionary spirit that we have been able to ride it out through the highs and the lows of our journey as an organization – focusing on our Kapitbahayan value of “Una sa Serbisyo. Huli sa Benepisyo.” This is intuitive to us and is reflective in how we handle our operations. It is another way of assuring you that we are serious about our culture of caring and sharing – starting here, in our own backyard.

Highlights of Accountability

As we continue to aim for transparency and credibility always in our operations, we wish to share with you the small victories we have achieved in this effort to gain and keep your trust.

PCNC Certification as a Donee Institution

The Philippine Council for NGO Certification (PCNC) is the authorized institution of the Department of Finance that accredits all NGO's for the issuance of certificates of donation to its donors. Like a "seal of good housekeeping", no donation can be tax deductible without such certification being issued by the donee institution. Given the tax sensitivity of the issuance of such certificates of donation, very few NGO's qualify and are given accreditation status. Gawad Kalinga, after a 1-year probation, is one of the very few NGO's that have been granted a 5-year accreditation by the PCNC. As further testimony of its respect and trust for the GK organization, PCNC has invited GK's Executive Director Luis Oquiñena to sit in its Board of Trustees.

Advisory Services from Top Consultancy and Financial Firms

Gawad Kalinga actively pursues and engages the services of top advisory institutions in the development and improvement of its systems and procedures. For a start, we sought the services of Isla Lipana, a member of the Price Waterhouse Group, to conduct an intensive and robust audit of our books. Isla Lipana continues to be GK's independent external auditor.

We likewise asked the assistance of our partner SGV of the Ernst & Young Group to conduct a Business Process Review and A Financial Statement Closing Process Review of our financial systems and operations. With SGV's help, we were able to identify the gaps, weaknesses and risks in our systems and processes, and more importantly, in addressing and mitigating them. The engagements with these renowned financial and advisory firms have provided us concrete and constructive recommendations for better transparency, accountability and financial efficiency.

And finally since 2009, the Ateneo de Manila Center for Organizational Research & Development University (CORD) has been assisting us in streamlining our systems through an Organizational Development process and professionalizing our workforce through a Performance Management System. It is our goal that we achieve efficient and effective delivery of services because of these interventions.

I.T. Investments

Stemming from the system audits conducted we knew it was imperative to build a system that would provide ease of financial accountability for our many teams on the ground and ensure transparency for the benefit of our donors. From 2008 to 2009, GK acquired and developed a web-based, interactive donor and data management software (Project Unity) and an accounting software (Project Quicknet). Both are set to be fully operational by June 2010.

In the pipeline likewise for 2010 is the relaunch of www.gk1world.com which will not only be an information gateway of Gawad Kalinga but will, more importantly, be an operational tool to further drive the global movement of Gawad Kalinga, 24/7. It is envisioned to grow and enable the volunteers and partners of Gawad Kalinga in furthering the work wherever they are in the world.

Global Recognition

Not in search of any award or recognition, Gawad Kalinga nevertheless continues to be recognized by prestigious award-giving bodies in the Philippines and around the globe.

2006 Ramon Magsaysay Award for Community Leadership

In 2006, Gawad Kalinga and its founder, Antonio P. Meloto, received the Ramon Magsaysay Award, Asia's version of the Nobel Peace Prize, for Community Leadership. The award honors GK's greatness of spirit and Meloto's transformative leadership in the Philippines.

Hilton Humanitarian Award Finalist

Gawad Kalinga was nominated in 2009 for the prestigious Conrad N. Hilton Humanitarian Award, given annually to a charitable or non-governmental organization that has made extraordinary contributions towards alleviating human suffering anywhere in the world. It is the world's largest humanitarian award.

Every year approximately 200 organizations worldwide are nominated, and it is a great honor for Gawad Kalinga to be among the 13 finalists for 2009.

Esteemed Leaders in the GK Board of Trustees

Reflective of our commitment to ensure transparency and accountability in all levels of our operations, we have invited respected leaders in business, academe and the private sector to join GK's Board of Trustees.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

"We cannot truly succeed if our nation fails. And we cannot create sustainable value in our company if the communities in which we operate are mired in poverty. This is why we partnered with GK. My own modest involvement in GK has added meaning to my life, one that comes from knowing that even in some small way I am helping to make our world a better place. The GK experience has shown me that if we commit our individual energies and personal goodwill into a collective force, we can truly make great things possible for the Filipino."

Gerardo C. Abaza, Jr.

Board of Directors, Globe Telecom

Gerry drove the partnership of Globe Telecom with Gawad Kalinga into higher gear by building the first Globe-TM GK Village in Bagong Silang, Caloocan City. He believes that in partnering with GK, companies can help bring about sustainable solutions to the country's pressing problems such as poverty and corruption.

"In time, as more companies, individuals and local government leaders partner with GK, the movement should be able to contribute towards national renewal, transforming the whole country into a home that nurtures a nation of educated, responsible and productive citizens who will be able to elect the leaders that will provide good governance. We will finally achieve our full potential and be truly proud to be called Filipinos!"

Edgar O. Chua

Country chairman, Shell companies in the Philippines

With Ed at the helm, Pilipinas Shell first propelled Gawad Kalinga to public consciousness when they chose GK's Tony Meloto to be the model for their media campaign, "Malayo ang Mararating" to inspire Filipinos to reach for their dreams.

Since then they have been a valuable partner of GK, making sure that the Filipino dream becomes a reality, building GK farms to bring food to the tables of poor families.

"Save the poor, Save the environment! Save the environment, Save the poor!" has become our battle cry. Through GK, not only will we uplift the lives of the poor but we will also empower them to become active protectors and managers of their local environment. I believe that Green Kalinga is the only way by which we will indeed ensure the sustainability of our GK communities. By doing so, we will take a giant step forward in achieving our vision of a Philippines with lush green mountains teeming with indigenous flora and fauna, blue skies, clean waters and productive lands and seas protected and properly managed by an empowered community that has made caring for the environment its way of life."

Elisea "Bebet" Gozun

Former Secretary, Department of Environment and Natural Resources
Green Kalinga Champion

As the former Secretary of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources in the Philippines and the United Nations Environment Programme Champion of the Earth for Asia and the Pacific, Bebet brings to GK her passion and expertise to Green Kalinga, GK's environmental program which she champions for the earth and the poor.

"I am truly proud and blessed to have been part of this great movement "Gawad Kalinga" almost right from the very start. I have seen how GK has transformed the lives of the people in the communities it serves and how it has given them new hope and aspirations. More importantly though, GK has given me and my family purpose and meaning in life. Truly, GK brings out the best in us and in the Filipino."

Michael P. Goco

Finance Director, Gawad Kalinga

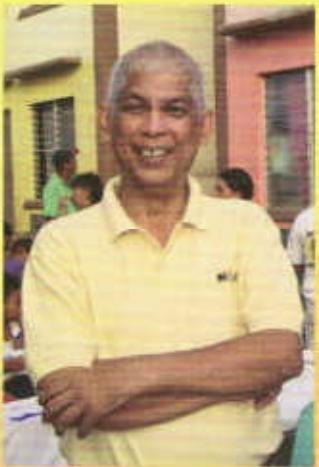

Mike has served as the Finance Director of GK since 2003. He shares with Gawad Kalinga over 35 years of experience in the field of Finance and Banking as the former Group Vice President of Metro Pacific Corporation and President of First e-Bank (PDCP Bank).

"Gawad Kalinga's promotion of heroism among the youth is most laudable. As the young set out to better the world they were born into, a cause worth pursuing is lifting up the poor. With the youth go our dreams of a world more loving; a world more caring; a world more magnanimous in its compassion for the poor. A new day dawns as a new generation of heroes, afire with God's love for the poor, trek the path of tomorrow. Hope within swells!"

Ernesto E. Maipid, Jr

Former director, Family Ministries, Couples for Christ

Emie Maipid joined the GK Board in 2006, and brought with him a wealth of experience as National Director of an IT Project of the United Nations Development Programme for 8 years. He also served as a member of the International Council of Couples for Christ, the global Catholic community which gave birth to Gawad Kalinga.

"It is only heroes who will extend their power and resources to help others beyond themselves. It is only heroes who can rescue a failing nation and a suffering people. It is only the hero in you that I appeal to, that our people cry out for. Be a hero. Don't forget those who have been left behind. Think of the poor in the towns and cities where you come from. Don't stop hoping for them and your country. Demand greatness and generosity from yourselves and inspire them in others. Build hope. Be heroes. Attain honor."

Antonio P. Meloto

Chairman of the Board, Gawad Kalinga

Tito Tony carries in his heart the sufferings of the poor. He continues to inspire everyone to become heroes for them. In restoring the dignity of the least of its citizens by caring for their most basic needs, he envisions the Philippines restored in honor, attaining to its great destiny as a light to other nations.

"Perhaps the best way I can describe Ateneo's engagement with GK is to say that it has been a journey to build one another and the nation together. The journey begins by building homes and sharing meals and kuwentuhan together. It continues by building leadership and community in each GK village. It has also been about building a future for the youth. It has been a privilege for Ateneo to journey with Gawad Kalinga and together to build one another and a better future for our nation."

Fr. Bienvenido F. Nebres, S.J.

President, Ateneo de Manila University

Fr. Nebres was one of the first believers of Gawad Kalinga, and under his leadership, the Ateneo has now built several villages initiated by students and alumni and have pioneered various initiatives and studies to help capture the GK framework for development.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

"As a Fil-Am raised in the United States, I would hear my father say, 'Son, when you grow up, I want you to go back home. It's a beautiful place.' Nothing seemed to fit because I never related to the Philippines as my country. But, something drastically changed during my visit in December 2006. I realized what my father had been telling me all along - the beauty of the Philippines is in its people." I knew then that the only difference between the poor and me was one word - opportunity. I said to myself I would support GK until my people are liberated."

Tony Olaes

Chairman, Olaes Enterprises, Inc.

Tony is leading the GK movement in America, uniting fellow Filipinos and showing the world that the Filipinos are world class, not only in business but also in their beliefs and values. He has also set up GK1World Foundation, Inc. to support the expansion of Gawad Kalinga into a global template for development.

"Let us take to heart the call to servanthood, always placing others before ourselves. "Una sa serbisyo, huli sa benepisyo" (First to serve, last to benefit), is what our brethren from the GK Kapitbahayan have taught us. Many of us are witness to how Kapitbahayan leaders give up the opportunity of receiving a house in lieu of the other family, exemplifying the GK value of sharing out of their own poverty. There is no reason for us to fail if we all decide to serve one another regardless of stature, position or belief. Let us learn from the simplicity of poor."

Luis Oquiñena

Executive Director, Gawad Kalinga

All Luis wanted was to follow God's calling for his life. It involved a life of sacrifice and heroism but he bravely embraced his mission and opened his heart to a life of great adventures. Today, Luis is our modern-day Joshua, as GK's Executive Director he is leading the poorest of the poor into the Promised Land, a country of abundance and hope where every person knows they are loved by God through Gawad Kalinga.

"What struck me most was how effectively GK had been able to tap the patriotic and civic spirit of Filipinos and harness that energy to build GK villages all over the country. This isn't just a civic program; GK is a movement pursuing a very worthwhile cause. It has created a shining example of what Filipinos - rich and poor - and, in growing numbers, volunteers from overseas, can do when they join hands to build a new future for the Philippines."

Manny V. Pangilinan

Chairman of the board, Philippine Long Distance Telephone Company (PLDT)

Smart was one of the first corporate partners of Gawad Kalinga, and has constantly chosen hard-to-reach communities to give the most impact to families that need it most. Smart's initiatives with GK go well beyond just building villages, as they work to ensure that these communities are sustainable through various livelihood initiatives. They have also invested in improving GK's IT and Communication systems.

"At the heart of our vision is the ability to care for people. People's lives are uplifted when they are treated with respect, when they know that we want to spend time with them, when we listen to their own stories. "Walang Iwanan" is not just a GK slogan, it is who we are as a people. We may face heartbreaking devastation, but we will match it with God's grace, the indomitable spirit of the Filipino, and the heroism of Gawad Kalinga workers who continue to give of themselves without counting the cost."

Maria Isabel Cuevas-Santos

Head, GK Community Infrastructure Program

After graduating from Ateneo de Manila University in 1999, Issa immediately served fulltime to start the work of Gawad Kalinga in Bagong Silang, Caloocan City. She helped organize the first communities and caretaker teams throughout the whole region of Mindanao, including conflict areas. She also served as Head for Partnerships before now heading GK's Community Infrastructure Program.

Our four websites—www.filipiniana.net, www.wikipilipinas.org, www.thepoc.net, www.e-turo.org—give away books and information, news and education. Our vision is to create a home for Philippine knowledge.

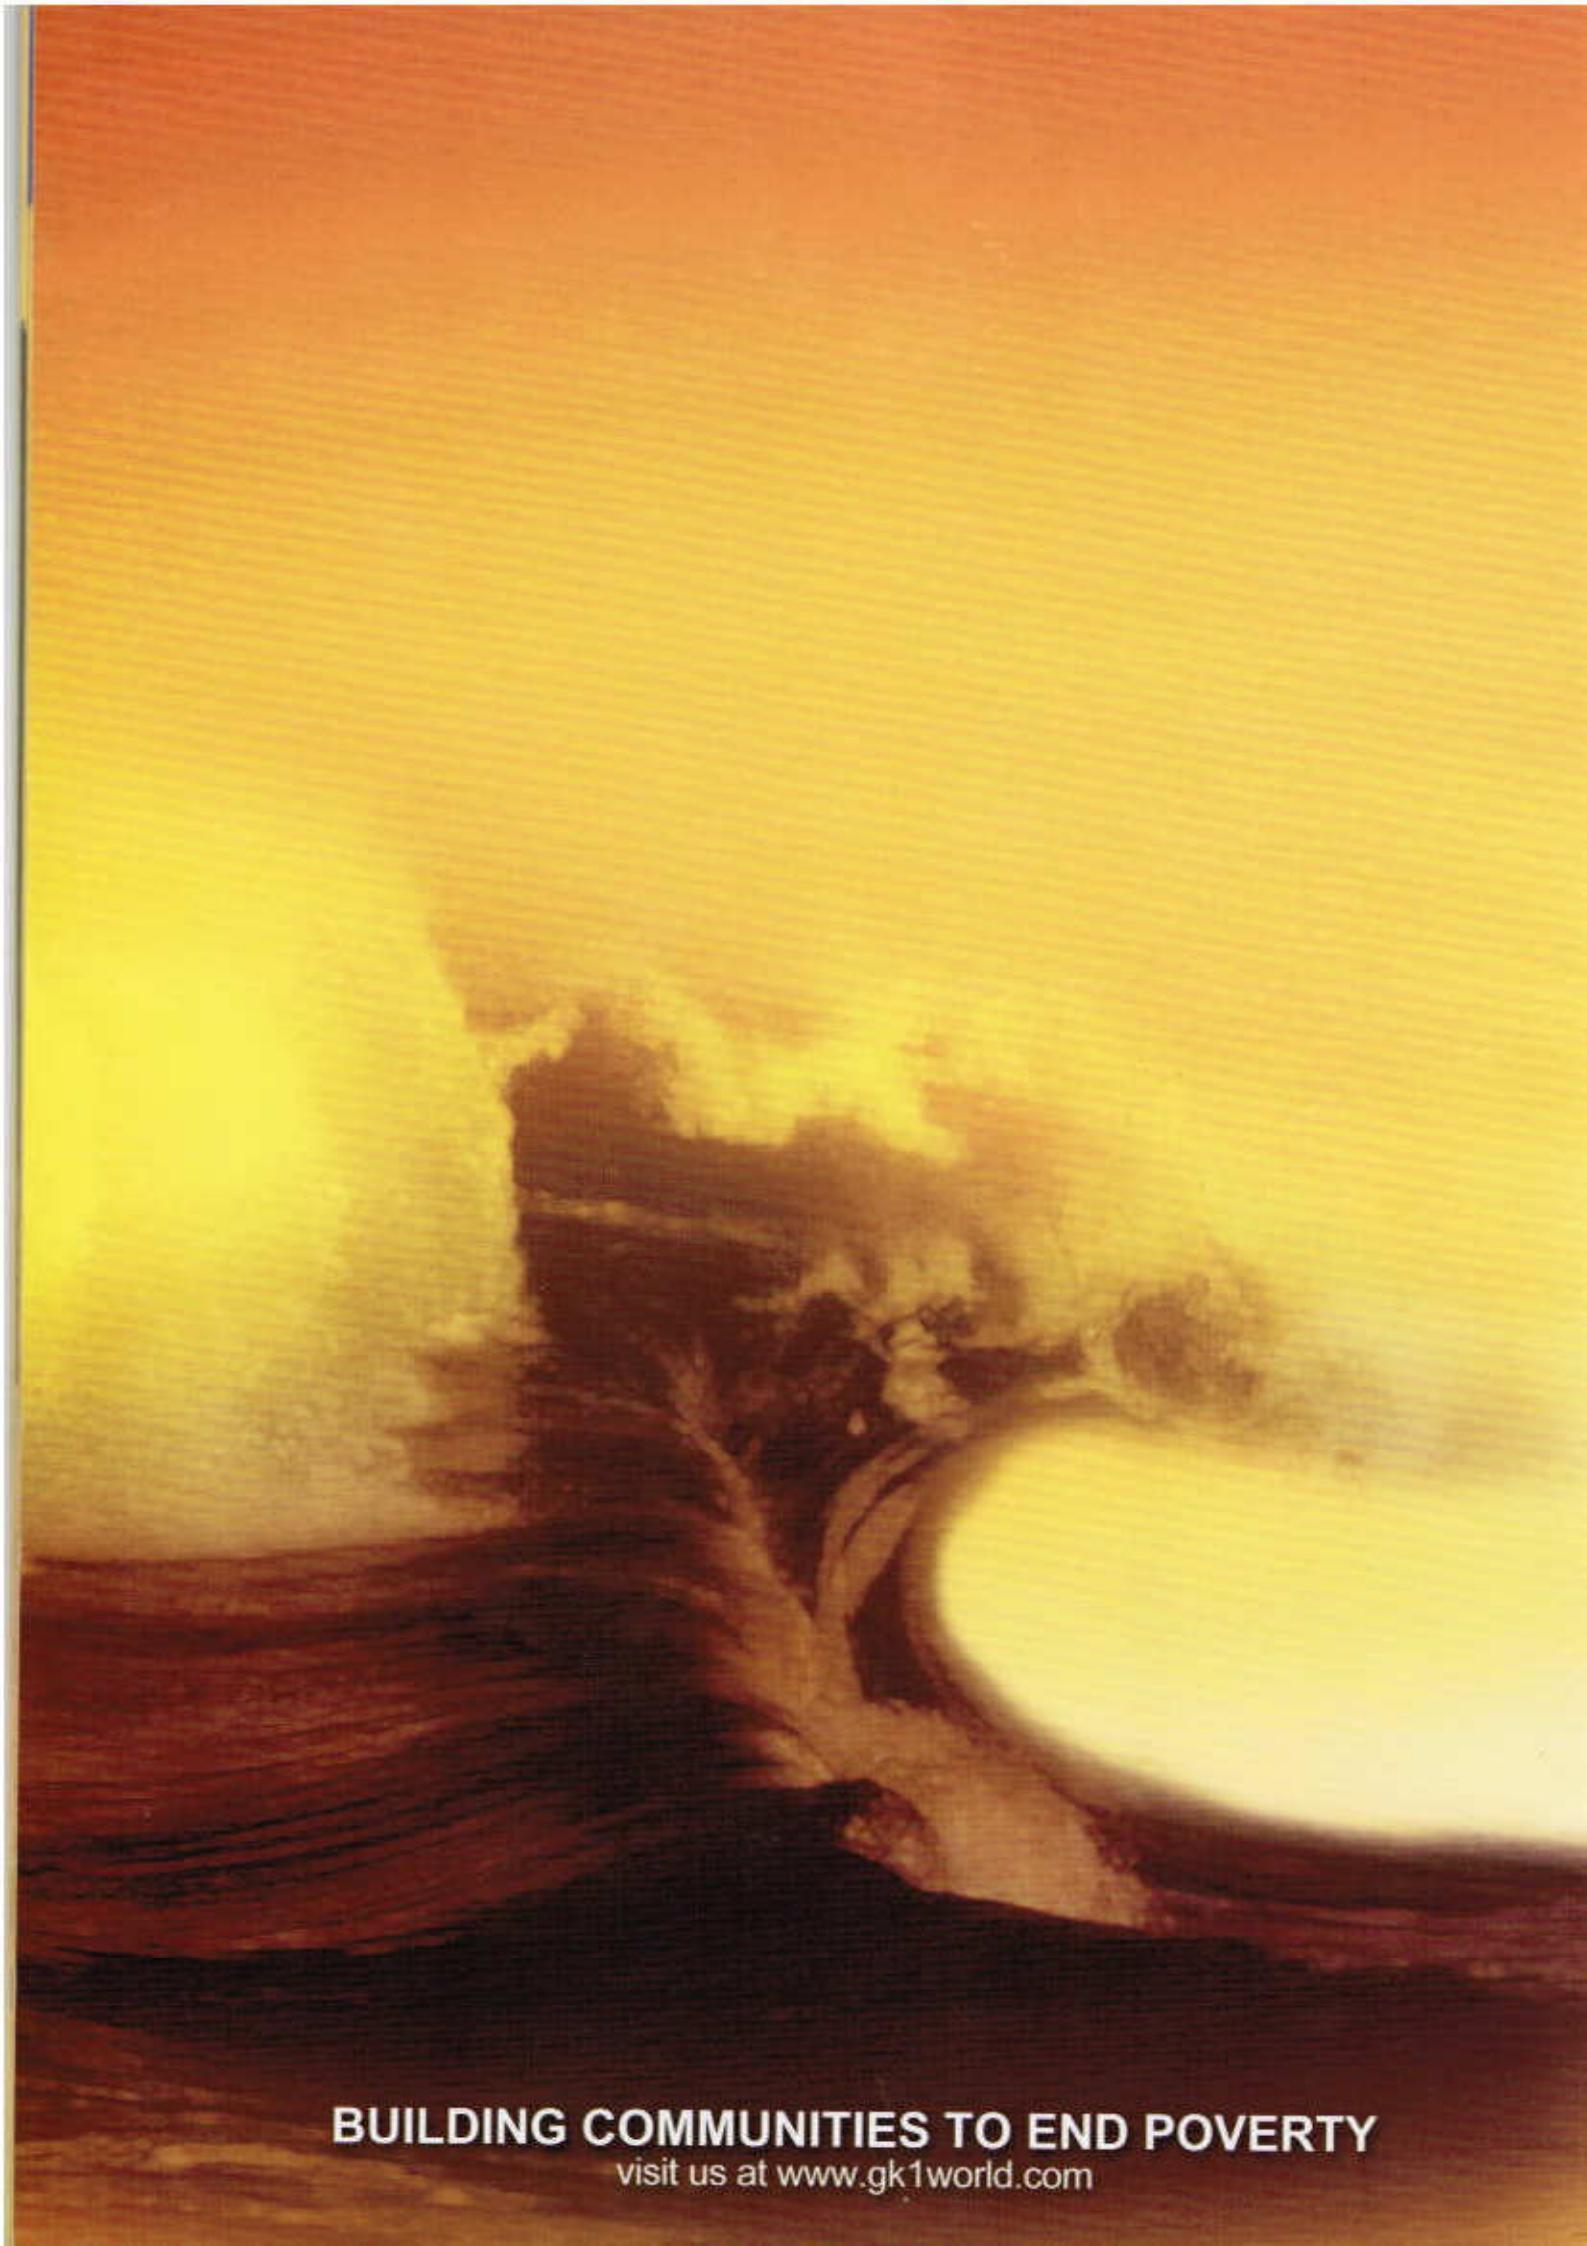

Because when you've found stable ground, it's time to start flying.
